

considerably on his aggressive work. Fitz then missed a fearful right for the jaw and went to his knees from the force of the missed blow.

Round 8.—O'Brien drove a straight left to face. Fitz worked his left to jaw twice and O'Brien was cautioned for holding. O'Brien ripped in a masterly left over the eye and a moment later floored Fitz with a stiff right to jaw. Bob came up apparently groggy. O'Brien then drove his left to body and forced his man again to the ropes with two hard lefts to face. As the round ended Fitz appeared to recuperate but went to his corner rather unsteadily. It was O'Brien's round by a big margin.

Round 10.—O'Brien met Fitz with a straight jab on the face, but Fitz retaliated with a powerful right over the heart and swung his left to face. O'Brien shot in two lefts to face as Fitz missed a right swing and quickly jabbed his left over the mouth. Suddenly Fitz hooked his right with great force over the heart, forcing O'Brien to a clinch. Fitz's two heart punches in this round were the best of the fight.

Round 11.—Fitz in a mix drove O'Brien to the ropes with a terrific right. O'Brien landed two uppercuts. Fitz complained to the referee that O'Brien was hitting low. The referee hissed. Fitz forced O'Brien to the ropes. Fitz chased his man around the ring, landing a straight left to face.

Round 12.—After Fitz had forced O'Brien into a neutral corner O'Brien electrified the crowd with some fine work during which he shot three lefts to Fitz's face and blocked all attempts of Bob's to counter.

Round 13.—In a mix-up Fitz suddenly drove a fearful right to the body and then a terrific hook with left to face. O'Brien, however, retaliated with a hard left uppercut to jaw. Fitz then planted a hard left to the body and they mixed it, both landing right and left blows over the heart.

As Fitz went to his corner he suddenly collapsed, falling to the floor. Blood flowed from his mouth and nose and it was seen that he was badly hurt. A doctor was hastily summoned. Fitz was able to rise unassisted shortly after and left the ring. It appeared he was seized with a sudden fainting fit and hemorrhage as his seconds were working over him conditioning him for the next round. There was nothing to indicate that Fitz was in distress when he took his seat after the thirteenth round had expired. When Robert Bracey saw Fitz's condition he immediately awarded the contest to O'Brien.

FIGHT DELIFISH THREE HOURS.

Gulf Fishermen Kill Monster After Being Dragged Five Miles.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 20.—After a three-hour struggle with a monster devilfish in Chandler Sound, on the Gulf coast, yesterday, Emanuel O. Euzrat and three other fishermen managed to kill one of the largest fish of this species which has ever been seen in southern waters. The fish was one of fifteen or twenty of the same kind. Euzrat harpooned it, and it immediately struck out for the open water of the Gulf.

The boat was dragged for about five miles before the fish became tired, and after a struggle which kept the men busy working to keep their boat from being overturned they were able to draw the fish to the side of the boat and kill it. The body of the fish is now on exhibition in the offices of the state oyster commission.

DREDGE BOAT CAPTAIN HELD FOR GRAND JURY.

Beat Members of Crew Into Insensibility and Let One Drown.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 20.—The witnesses in the case of Captain Levin T. Lewis, of the oyster boat dredge boat Sadie Lewis, who was given a hearing today before United States Commissioner Rogers on the charge of cruelty to members of his crew, were severe in their accusations and as result Captain Lewis was held in default of $2,500 bail for the action of the federal grand jury.

The witnesses testified that they had been cruelly beaten by the captain from the time they put foot on board the Sadie Lewis until relieved from the bondage by the United States officers on the revenue cutter Windom. The testimony also was to the effect that a white mate named "Tom" and a colored second mate named George Atwood, were guilty of similar offenses. The two mates, it was testified, on one occasion, beat one of the members of the crew almost into insensibility, and in his efforts to avoid further punishment, the man fell overboard and was drowned without any serious effort being made to save him. The crew consisted of ten men, all of whom testified to acts of cruelty.

Atwood, one of the mates, was brought to Baltimore on the Windom as a witness for the government, but when the testimony against him developed, a warrant for his arrest was sworn out at the instance of United States Attorney John C. Rose and he, too, was held.

Stories of the Streets and of the Town

Automobile Boots.

"I've figured out an automobile scheme that has the present system beat to a standstill," said the Mechanical Genius yesterday as he stood at the corner of Railroad avenue and Second street, talking to a friend and watching the Christmas shoppers hurrying back and forth and jostling against each other and dropping packages.

"Let's have it—might as well get it out of your system," said the Patient Listener, who had shifted his weight to the other foot.

"Well, it's sort of on the roller skate plan," said the Mechanical Genius with enthusiasm. "It's the great motive achievement of the age. Motor boots is the idea. On each foot, to make myself clear, the traveler wears a small automobile. Each one is fixed on a high boot and has small rubber-tired wheels, say about six or eight inches in diameter. A small motor is arranged on each 'foot' or 'motor-foot' as you may care to call it."

"What runs the motors—personal magnetism?" asked the Patient Listener with a faint show of interest.

"Nothing easier," said the Mechanical Genius. "Accumulators are carried in the belt. Wires run down each leg which transmit one and a quarter horse power to each foot. The motors can be run at a speed ranging from eight to thirty miles an hour. Each boot would weigh about sixteen pounds, but then you are not supposed to lift the feet while you are in operation."

"One and a quarter horse power," mused the Patient Listener. "I suppose that's just like having two and a half-fourths of a horse hitched to each foot."

"Something like that," went on the Genius. But of course each foot is under perfect control and the speed can be regulated at will."

"In case a man fell down what would be the result while going at a speed of say twenty-five miles an hour on a slight gradient," inquired the other, now thoroughly interested.

"I suppose he could have another modern inverted wheels put on his head." Of course in many cases there would be no difficulty in getting the wheels.

"No," said the Genius looking at the other narrowly, "but —"

"Just one more question," asked the patient man. "Suppose the motor on one foot was started at thirty miles an hour and the other one at six miles going in the opposite direction, what would happen?"

The Mechanical Genius looked embarrassed. Then the patient man grinned and the genius turned and walked off.

His Location.

When the California limited pulled into the station last night, only some ten hours late, a young lady wandered from the observation car onto the observation platform, pulling her cloak around her to shut off the chilling north wind.

"Oh," exclaimed the tourist, as she gazed at the scenery, "is this Alberkerk?"

And a lonely car whacker, who was testing the wheels beneath the observation car, and who had been waiting to do it in that same chilling north wind for a matter of three hours, responded gloomily:

"No, madam, this is hell."

Peccadilloes of an Arizona Lake.

Parties coming from the northern end of the county report that the dry lake between Cochise and Wilcox is again filled with water from the late storm and is causing the railroad company considerable trouble, much the same as does the Salton lake at the present time. During the wind storm, the early part of the week the truck for nearly two miles was badly damaged by the water dashing against the roadbed and ties. The company now has a force of nearly one hundred men at work riprapping the track to keep it from washing out. When the wind is blowing a strong current of water is forced under the culverts from one side of the track to the other and would lead one, who is not acquainted with the facts, to believe that it is a small river flowing from one side to the other. One day the water flows one way the next day the other, according to the direction the wind blows.—Tombstone Prospector.

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Sewbro's Herpicide. Herpicide, by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. E. H. Briggs & Co., Special Agents.
